A Christmas Carol
It came upon the midnight
clear,
That glorious song of old,
From angels bending o'er the earth
To touch their harps of gold,
"Peace on earth, good-will to man,
From heaven's all-gracious
King."
The world in solemn stillness
lay
To hear the angels sing.

For lo! the days are hastening on
By prophet bards fortold,
When with the ever circling years
Comes round the age of gold,
When peace shall over all the earth
Its ancient splendors fling,
And the whole world give back
the song
Which now the angels sing.

Books Which Interest.

HEIDI

by Fran Johanna Spyri is the story of a little Swiss girls city and mountain life. This has been translated from the thirteenth German edition by Helen B. Dole. The translation preserves the vivacity of the original. This little story has for years delighted the boys and girls of Switzerland. Its author is to these little folks what Louisa M. Alcott is to the American children. It is true to life. It breathes a beautiful religious spirit, but it is the simple religion of childhood without denominational differences. Conversations are lively and natural. The simple country life is contrasted with the more conventional home of wealth in the city. The present translation has been made with the idea of preserving as far as possible the simplicity and vivacity of the original with all its charming sincerity and wholesome humor. It cannot fail to appeal to every reader.

WAYS OF WOOD FOLK

by William J. Long, is one of Long's Wood Folk Series. It is truly a delightful work telling of the lives and habits of the commoner wood folk such as the rabbit, wild duck and the crow. The author is a lover of nature and his sympathy with their friendship. He has studied them until he finds quite as many odd ways and individualities among animals as among other people. His powers of observation are extraordinary. His books are interesting as well as instructive.

The book is illustrated by Charles Copeland and other artists.

WIGWAM STORIES.

by Mary Catherine Judd is a beautiful book. Many of its stories are direct translations of Indian speech. The simple, characteristically true sentences are easily understood by the third and fourth year pupil.

The stories show that the love beautiful also of the humorous, lives in the heart of the wild Indian.

Part I gives sketches of the various Indian tribes, their appearance, custom, manner of living etc. Part II tells of their traditions and myths. Part III is devoted to the Indian of today, his conditions and beliefs.

In addition to the numerous illustrations from photographs, Miss Angel de Cora (Hinook-Mabiwi-Kilinaka) a young Indian artist of great promise has contributed several full-page sketches, the cover design and numerous initials and designs. The illustrations are therefore, unusually true to life.

The above are published by Ginn & Co., Chicago, Ill.

Dear Santa Clause—

I thought I would write you a few lines to let you know that I want you to visit me this Xmas. I think I have been a good boy, I have been going to school and have only missed two days, my teacher's name is Mr Hardesty For Xmas I want a sled, a story book, a book strap, a school tablet, candy nuts, and oranges.
Well I will close now as you have so many other children to visit.

Yours respectfully
Johnnie Miles.

After a visit of three months with his aunt, Mrs. E. L. Anderson, Master Warner Gras-sell returned to his home, Pittsburg, Pa., Saturday.
